NATIONAL BANKS IN COURT.

The Security Bank, of this city, on March 4, 1874. commenced an action in the state Supreme Court gainst the National Bank of the Commonwealth to recover $50,000, alleged to have been loaned and also for $3,500 as a balance of account for moneys deposited with defendant. A judgment was rendered by default for the full amount. was rendered by default for the full amount. Comptroller of the Currency John J. Knox and sanc H. Bailey, receiver of the National Bank of the Commonwealth, have filed a bill in equity in the United States Circuit Court asking to set aside the judgment and praying that the Security Bank he restrained from taking any steps toward enforcing it. Allegations appear in the bill that the action in the Supreme Court of the State was begun through George Ellis, President of the National Bank of the Commonwealth, and with intent to defraud its creditors, and that neither Knox nor Railey had been served with the summons in the action.

A COURT INTERPRETER'S PAY.

Richard S. Rosenthal vs. The Mayor, &c .-The plaintiff is general interpreter of the Courts of Oyer and Terminer and General Sessions, and successor to the late Colonel Kazinski. The latter died while in office and contesting for his increased salary. This was given him by a resolution of the Board of Supervisors. Comptroller Green denied their power. To cut the gordian knot the Legislature passed an To cut the gordian knot the Legislature passed an act legalizing the increase. The Comptroller paid the arrearages of Colonel Kazinski to his widow, but refused to honor those of the plaintiff, successor to the office, who brought suit in the Common Pleas, special Term. The Comptroller answered that the increase related only to Kazinski, because the resolution read with his name prefixed to the title of the office. The matter was argued by A. Oakey fall for the interpreter and Assistant Corporation Counsel Dean for the Comptroller, upon a motion by the former for judgment on a frivolous answer.

a motion by the former for judgment on a frivolous answer.
Judge Loew granted judgment, holding that neither a resolution of the Supervisors nor an act of the Lexislature could inare to the benefit of an individual, but only to an officer, and that the measures in question related to the interpreter, the name merely being descriptive. This decision is particularly agreeable to the revered Mayor, who takes, as his two predecessors have taken, a county salary by virtue of a resolution simply giving it to C. Godirey Gunther as Mayor. However, the Comptroller never raised the question of limitation against his wealthy colleague, but only against the poor interpreter.

Effort to Make the Force More Efficient and Valuable-The Men to Wear Uniforms When Off Duty.

A general order, of which the following is copy, was issued yesterday by Superintendent Walling to the force :-

GENERAL ORDER NO. 145.

OFFICE OF SUPERINTENDENT OF POLICE,
300 MULBERRY STREET, NEW YORK, SEPL 21, 1874.

TO CAPTAINS OF PIRCHNOTE:—

The object of the order is to increase the moral efficiency of the force, and bring up the discipline to a desired standard. President Matsell has been watching the system in operation since his return to the department, and arrived at the conclusion that many of the breaches of discipline, and much of the disregard for the rules that were constantly being brought before the attention of the Board, were owing to the circumstance that each day half the men were at liberty about the town in citizens' clothes. The greater part of this number would take advantage of this day off to enjoy themselves; and as all had not probably a forcible conviction that quiet home amusements were the most interesting, some of these men would, no doubt, often return to their duties with dispositions ill fitted to the onerous calls upon their patience and attention. If the men were compelled to retain their uniforms wherever they went it would not only check them from indulging in liberties denied policemen, but would secure to the citizens an extra force of 1,000 policemen moving about them every day. The Board has provided that on urgent occasions the Superintendent has power to permit officers going out in plain clothes, but without this permission every man in the department must in luture appear in public only in his uniform. as all had not probably a forcible convictor that Inspector McDermott made complaints yester-Inspector McDermott made complaints yesterday against two sergeants, two roundsmen, a patroliman and adoorman found asleep in the Fourteenth precinct station house, when they should have been on duty. The fact that the inspector caught these men napping has caused a sensation, and all the other sergeants on night duty are doing their best to keep awake while in charge of the desk. It was proposed to the Board yesterday to supply the station nouses with boxes of snuff for the use of sieepy sergeants, but it is yet doubtful whether the loca win be adopted. There are a good many sleepy sergeants and as they are seldom waked up in this manner the novelty of the effort may produce a beneficial effect. Sergeant Donagau, one of those complained of for somnolency, was a prominent candidate for Captain. His chances have, it appears, diminished. Other changes in the organization of the force are in progress through the Board and are expected to be put into operation in a few days. The detectives are to be placed on a different standing, and classed so as to work more in harmony with the requirements of the force.

Captain McCullogh, of the Twenty-ninth precinct, has for some time been desirous of leaving that locality, as the duties are heavier than his health will bear. He applied to the Board vester-

THE BROOKLYN SCANDAL. Mr. Moulton Served with the Capias in Miss Proctor's Libel Suit.

Mr. Francis D. Moulton yesterday returned home after several days' absence, during which, as he was apprised by the newspapers, an action for Edna Dean Proctor, in the United States Court, in libel had been commenced against him by Miss which the plaintiff claims damages in $100,000 on which the plaintiff claims damages in $100,000 on account of injurious allegations and innuendoes contained in his late statement of the Beccher-Titton difficulty. He had also been informed that United States Marshal Harlowe held for service upon him the capias and complaint in the action. He therefore repaired to the office of that functionary to accept service of the papers and to enter in form his appearance in the action. After some conversation Marshal Harlowe and Mr. Moulton walked together to the law office of Messrs. Tracy, Catlin & Brodhead, attorneys for Miss Proctor, where it was arranged with General Miss Proctor, where it was arranged with General Tracy that Mr. Moniton is to be present to-day in court, before judge Benedict, with counsel, to formally enter his appearance in the action ac-cording to the practice in such suits in the United States courts.

A CLEVER CAPTURE.

One of the Men Who Assaulted Officer McKenzie Taken.

John C. Mooney, of No. 107 Bleecker street, was arrested yesterday by Detective Terwinger and toundsman Watson, of the Eighth precinct, and locked up in the station house. He is charged with being one of the men who attacked Officer McKenzie, of the Thirty-second precinct, in July McKenzie, of the Thirty-second preamet, in July last. The officer interrupted several men in an attempt to break into a dwelling at 117th street, near Seventh avenue, and they turned upon him, attacked and beat him severely. A description of two of the parties was sent to all the precincts of police, immediately after the sflair occurred and yest, orday betective Terwiliger saw Mooney standing on the corner of oreene and Houston streets, and, recognizing him as one of the men, arrested him. Officer McKenzie was telegraphed for and he, identified Mooney as one of the parties. He will be arraigned at Jefferson Market Police Court to-day on a charge of felonious assault.

TAMMANY'S "BIG CHIEF."

John Kelly it Town and Preparing for a "Big Scalp Dance"-What He Thinks of the Haven cyer-Waterbury Attack and What He Proposes to Do

All the local politicians were on the lookout for the arrival of John Kelly in the city yesterday, although some said that he had come by an early train and was closeted with his lawvers during the entire day preparing his defence. But the truth appeared to be that he did not come until a late hour of the evening. However he was not accessible to outside parties until about eight o'clock. Light flashed from the windows of the palatial steps which lead to the hall door. This residence is situated at the corner of Lexington avenue and is situated at the corner of Lexington avenue and Thirty-eighth street. The white snades were carefully drawn down, but the light broke through and shed enlivening rays on the broad flagging outside. The edifice is one of the elegant brown stone fronts of this vicinity.

A ring at the bell of Mr. Kelly's house brought an answer in the person of a tidily dressed girl of the true Celtic stock. The Herald reporter asked if Mr. Kelly had yet arrived home, He was answered in the affirmative, and immediately ushered into the parlor. Here were assembled several gentlemen waiting to have a talk with the "big Injun." or to receive instructions to carry to some of the the parior. Here were assembled several gentlemen waiting to have a talk with the "big linjun," or to receive instructions to carry to some of the district lodges of the yet "unterrified." The sound of voices on the second floor told that others had taken time by the lorelock, and had setzed hold of the Wigwam Chief the very moment of his arrival. What a great thing if is to be a political chief. Everybody waits for you. The "braves" and "bucks" in the pariors sat like statues. They seemed afraid to move. The gas jets blinked with awe; the chairs, sofas, pictures—eyerything, seemed to partake of the greatness of the occasion. There were at least one dozen embryo statesmen in the house who waited an audience with bated breath and meditative aspect. They were a study. The air of greatness was around them, and anxious oxpectancy was plainly depicted in the subdued, nervous expression of their faces. Little less than a sacrilege did t appear to them that the imposing shrine they stood upon was assailed with deadly intent by the incorrigible old Knickerbocker and his attendant professional experts.

from you the principal points of your detence to the charges made against you in the letter of Mayor Havemeyer."

Mr. Kelly—it is impossible just now. I have only arrived from a visit to my sister, and have not had an opportunity of consulting my counsel. I must give my whole answer in its entirety. When I consult my counsel I will be better able to say what will be my course.

REPORTER—With legard to the writer of the communication published by the Mayor, have you heard the rumor that another besides Mr. Waterbury is supposed to have written it?

Mr. Kelly—I have not. I do not suppose that any one other than Waterbury wrote it. Wisterbury is a man of remarkable memory, who indows very well the history of politics in this city. He, no deabt, prepared the figures. Who else, is supposed to have written it?

Reporter—Mr. John McKeon's name is suggested. Do you think he would do it?

Mr. Kelly—I think that he would. As to the charges, however, (pointing to his breast and smining), I am all right here. My conscience acquist me of all wrong, and I do not feel the least uneasiness.

Mr. Kelly absolutely refused to have anything quits me of all wrong, and the host consideres.

Mr. Kelly absolutely refused to have anything to say relative to the matter until be should see his counsel. He professed full confidence in the effect of his statement when given to the public. The aggressiveness of his remarks to our representative when interviewed at Syracuse had, however, undergone a marked modification. It will be recollected that he there asserted he would have Waterbury and Havemeyer arrested minediately on his arrival in this city. Last hight immediately on his arrival in this city. Last night Mr. Kelly maniested no disposition to enter upon this particular course. To-day will probably develop some new and startling leatures.

ROW IN A NEWARK SYNAGOGUE.

A "Day of Reconciliation" Turned Into a Day of Fisticuffs.

Sunday was observed by the children of Israel in Newark as Yom Kuppur, or the Day of Atonement or Reconcillation, and at the synagogue on Washington street the services were disgracefully diversified by a performance such as is rarely seen in any sacred edifice outside of Brooklyn. It appears that a member of the synagogue, a Mr. Ables, hired a pew for himself and family. The trustees took it upon themselves to set apart for the Yom Kuppur festival certain pews for adults, and among these was Mr. Ables'. During the forenoon in walked that gentleman with his family and placed the children, as usual, in his pew. The trustees desired him to remove the children, but he refused on the very logical ground that he had paid or the use of the pew and was going to go on using it. Then the trustees waxed angry and called in Officer Hannock. Mr. Hannock undertook to put Mr. Ables out, but Mr. Ables struck out with his fist at the little officer's face. Then the row became general, and the upshot was that Mr. Ables, charging him with assault and battery. He was arrested and held to ball. Ables, hired a pew for himself and family. The
